

Harry Earl Memorial Scholarship Announcement

The BioComposites Centre and Kronospan are launching a new scholarship fund to commemorate the life of Dr Harry Earl.

Harry had a successful career in the wood panel product sector culminating with the position of technical manager at Kronospan's mill in Chirk.

To help celebrate Harry's life applications are invited from earlier career academics and industrialists working in the wood panel product sector.

Two awards of £500 each are on offer to help pay for travel and attend events to support career development.

Applicants should submit no more than two pages (A4) giving details as to why they would like to be considered for the award. The application must explain how the funding will be used, give an overview of past and current research interests and should include how the funding will help achieve future career aspirations.

Please contact Dr Rob Elias at the BioComposites Centre to register your interest.
